Memorial Day

Are dogs getting faster or are we getting slower?

Are you looking for more independent skills for your dog?

Courses these days require more skills and handling at a distance with more independence.

Learn how to teach independent skills to your dog. And you can teach most skills in a smaller space!

Open to all levels. Dogs can be Masters level or simply sequencing jumps and tunnels. Mary works with the team on the course. Something for everyone. Lots of discussion and Q&A before diving into training.

- 30 years competing with wide variety of breeds, mixes & sizes
- 28 years instructing
- OneMind Dog Instructor
- Owner & Instructor - Agility Facility, CT
- Won Challengers Round at 2023 UKI US Open

Over the past couple of years, injury has limited Mary's ability to play agility. She just can't run. In response, Mary developed her own approach to handling from a distance by combining techniques from OneMind Dog with verbal cues, allowing her minimal running.

Despite limited handler speed and dexterity, Mary and her dogs are now successfully proving their distance skills on today's big and fast international courses.
